

Public Market Performance

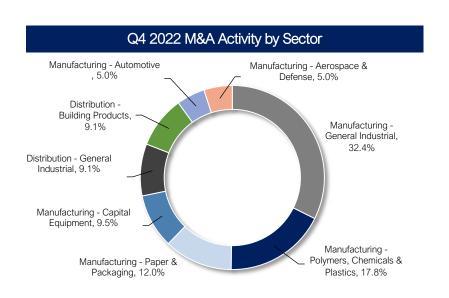

The Industrials sector yielded positive returns among public equities during Q4 2022, and half of the segments GCG tracks have meaningfully outperformed the general market on a 3-year basis now. In the past several months, the Industrials sector has observed more stability in raw material prices, freight costs, and wages, and has benefitted from greater visibility in lead times across supply chains, while customer demand remains strong. Many of these factors are viewed positively by investors and leading them to a more opportunistic outlook across the sector. Over the 3-year period ending 12/31/22, the S&P 500 returned 18.7%, while Capital Equipment Manufacturers outperformed the overall market with a return of 91.4%. General Industrial and Building Product Distributors have both been outpacing the overall market as well over the past three years, recording gains of 60.3% and 50.6%, respectively.

Middle-Market M&A Activity

The volume of M&A activity in the Industrials sector during the fourth quarter was slightly lower, with 241 closed transactions, compared to 250 during Q3 2022. Average deal value (based on reported transaction value) increased compared to the prior quarter. The General Industrial Manufacturing category once again lead M&A activity, accounting for 32.4% of total transaction volume. Polymers, Chemicals & Plastics Manufacturing represented the next most active segment, accounting for 17.8% of total transaction volume.

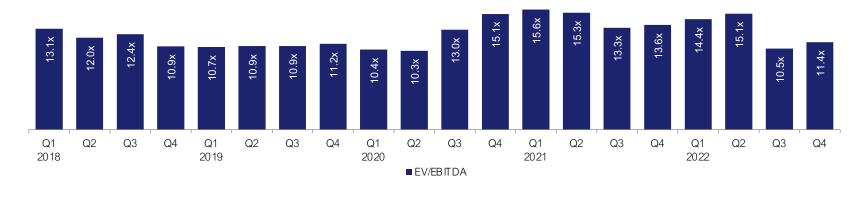

M&A Activity by Buyer Type

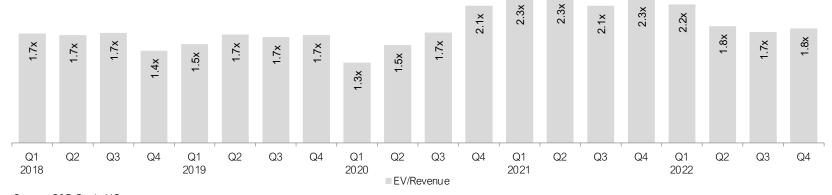

Public Company Trading Multiples

Based on a representative set of publicly traded companies in the Industrials sector, public companies traded at an average multiple of 11.4x EBITDA and 1.8x Revenue during Q4 2022, representing slight increases over the prior quarter. Additionally, one of the strongest market segments in the Industrials sector was Aerospace & Defense Manufacturing with a median multiple of 14.8x EBITDA. General Industrial Manufacturers also performed well, recording a median multiple of 11.4x EBITDA at the end of Q4.
